Access Data to Provide Sales and Market Content via Pyxis Mobile

Access Data SalesVision® and AccessDiscovery now available via Pyxis Mobile

Pittsburgh, PA – February 19, 2008 – Access Data, the leading provider of enterprise sales reporting and data management services to the financial services industry, announced today that detailed sales and market data from its industry leading sales management system, Access Data SalesVision, will now be available through Pyxis Mobile. Pyxis Mobile is the leading provider of innovative wireless applications for the Financial Services industry, providing a collection of award-winning wireless business applications, a library of exclusive 3rd-party content, and a best-in-class Application Studio that empowers the creation of highly specialized mobility configurations to fit any need.

Access Data also announced that content from its most recent new data management service, AccessDiscovery, will also be available through Pyxis Mobile. AccessDiscovery, an exclusive joint offering from Access Data and Discovery provides sales managers and mutual fund wholesalers a clear picture of their best clients and ideal prospects. Wireless access to AccessDiscovery content via Pyxis Mobile provides financial intermediary client profiles based on “share of wallet calculations”, as well as identification of ideal prospects with similar potential for Registered Representatives, Advisors, Trust Officers, and Insurance Companies.

“Providing sales and market data from Access Data SalesVision directly to mobile financial professionals in the field provides a huge advantage to our clients,” said Shane Hughes, President and CEO of Pyxis Mobile. “Pyxis Mobile users will now have detailed financial intermediary information available at any moment to help them identify their best clients and prospects and drive new sales”, added Mr. Hughes.

“We are excited about expanding our relationship with Pyxis Mobile,” said Frank Polefrone, Senior Vice President, Product Development and Marketing for Access Data. “By partnering with Pyxis Mobile, wholesalers can not only get easy access to important sales data from SalesVision, they will also have access to market content from AccessDiscovery, enabling them to focus their time and efforts on clients and prospects most likely to do business with them”, added Mr. Polefrone.
