JANUS IMPLEMENTS ACCESS DATA SALESVISION® FOR ENTERPRISE REPORTING

Janus Will Use SalesVision for Sales Management and Corporate Reporting Across the Organization

PITTSBURGH, June 19, 2006 – Access Data Corp., the leading provider of omnibus transparency solutions for the mutual fund industry, today announced that Janus Capital Group Inc (NYSE: JNS) is nearing completion of the phase I implementation of Access Data SalesVision®, to provide clean, controlled, and consistent asset and sales data across its organization. Janus implemented an enterprise license of SalesVision to aggregate data from multiple financial intermediary platforms, improve the “data cleansing” process, and provide detailed sales and asset reporting across all business units.

SalesVision will provide Janus with a robust solution for enterprise wide sales and asset reporting across the various product lines. SalesVision will also afford Janus with powerful technology tools for ad-hoc query capabilities of detailed information across all lines of its business, distribution channels, and products—including multi-currency funds.

Reputable financial services firms such as Janus have turned to SalesVision for enterprise reporting because of its leading edge technology, flexible architecture, and scalable platform. “With SalesVision, we are confident that the volumes of sales and asset data we need to process and distribute will safely and securely be available in a timely manner,” said Andrea Young, Chief Technology Officer for Janus. “We did a thorough technology review before selecting SalesVision, and we are confident that Access Data Corp. will satisfy the Janus enterprise reporting requirements,” added Ms. Young.
